

Made to order products offered in over 50 exterior colours

The Eagle has landed for installers with aluminium-clad windows

Black Millwork, the all-round supplier of timber windows and doors, has added the Eagle brand to its comprehensive product portfolio. Eagle windows and doors are made to order for an architectural distinction that offers lasting beauty, due to the innovative make-up of the aluminium-clad timber components.

Eagle windows and doors combine the best of both worlds - from the inside, the warmth and character that only timber can achieve, whilst an aluminium-clad external face provides a superior exterior finish that resists the elements of inclement weather, abrasion and impact. A choice from nine wood species, including oak, maple and cherry, can be combined with over 50 exterior colours, from Harvest gold to Caribbean blue, or a bespoke colour matching.

Gary Hutton, General Manager at

Black Millwork comments: "Eagle provides the building blocks for any architectural statement, with the products and design freedom to inspire truly aspirational results, which are built to last."

The flexibility, lightness and compressive strength of aluminium combined with a solid wood core mean that the most intricate of designs can be realised, without compromising structural integrity.

ABOVE: Eagle windows and doors combine the best of both worlds.

Eagle can offer a wide selection of shapes and styles, encompassing full circles or extended semicircles, together with more angular designs.

The aluminium extruded cladding fits neatly over the engineered timber, gently sliding into place and securing independently. This innovative feature allows for easy installation and ensures the window frame remains in the correct place, even if the timber expands or contracts due to varying temperatures. Whether the design is to highlight the architectural detail of the building or for clarity and performance, Eagle also offers a multitude of glass options and divided lights, to complete the look.

Eagle Windows are distributed solely through Black Millwork in the UK and Ireland. For more information please call Head Office on 01283 511 122.